Intergovernmental Agreements

Staff indicated Aims Community College (Aims) has requested the proposed agreement with the City of Fort Lupton, specifying the "base" and all increases be retained by Aims. The Authority was surprised by this request and would like to set up meeting with Aims to come to some compromise. The Authority has been under the impression Aims was going to request keeping the base and allowing the Authority to retain the increase as prescribed per State Statute. Staff will contact FLURA's attorney and City Administrator Claud Hanes to obtain additional information regarding the agreement. Additional information will be provided to the Authority when obtained.

In regard to the Fort Lupton Fire Protection District intergovernmental agreement, both parties are working on setting up a meeting. Chairperson Barbara Kirkmeyer had previously indicated she would set up the meeting.

Fort Lupton School District RE-8 (School District) provided the Authority with a draft intergovernmental agreement. The agreement also stated the School District would like to retain all monies for their use. Since both parties have reviewed the document no additional meeting have been set up to amend the agreement. Staff will contact the School District to see if they are interested in amending the agreement. Staff will also be contacting Beth Block the Authority's representative to see where the School District actually stands.

The last intergovernmental agreement that was discussed is with Weld County (County). Currently it is staff's understanding the County is willing to fulfill the agreement as described by State Statue and if there is additional "greenfield" obtained by the City, then that portion of levy is split between the City and County. It is the Authority's understanding FLURA will be able to retain their portion of the funds collected.

Staff indicated a letter was sent to Platte Valley Conservation District informing them of the establishment of the Fort Lupton Urban Renewal Authority. Staff also indicated in reviewing their mill levy that it is zero and there is the possibility no agreement is needed.

OLD BUSINESS

The Authority discussed the Urban Renewal Authority training. They provided information about what they took away from the training. All attendees felt it was beneficial to attend.

The last item for discussion was the Fort Lupton Urban Renewal Authority Project Input Survey. The survey is available in Spanish and English and has been accessible via Twitter, Facebook, Website and paper. The Authority inquired about the preliminary results and staff was a little reluctant to release the information because the survey was still available to take. In a quick review staff indicated trails were the number one request. Additional entries included the improvement to entries, the façade program, amenities for children in the community, and upgrades to the parks.

Staff indicated parks will be a part of the Comprehensive Plan, so details will be given at that time.
